NEXT STEPTM

Dinoflex is celebrating their 25th anniversary with the release of three innovative new lines of recycled rubber products. After over two decades of research and testing, we have discovered the formula for the most resilient, comfortable, attractive and affordable flooring ever – the NEXT STEPTM Series!

The NEXT STEPTM name is symbolic to the direction and vision of our company as we commit to new product development initiatives that will benefit our customers and contribute to the rubber flooring industry.

- The NEXT STEPTM Series is manufactured with our new specialized lamination technology process.
- This line was created to provide a high color recycled rubber flooring at a more competitive market price.
- We are providing customers the opportunity to utilize high color design while retaining the recycled and environmental benefits of the project.

Colors

We are pleased to introduce four new colors to our expansive palette:
